MSNBC Analyst: Trump Will Resign In Two Weeks

\(https://jonathanturley.org/2018/09/15/msnbc-analyst-trump-will-resign-in-two-weeks/\)

I am always surprised by commentators who not only predict a historic event but put a specific date on its occurrence. Rudy Giuliani of course predicted that the Mueller investigation would be over by September 1, 2018 (though he insists that Robert Mueller gave him that date \(https://www.cnn.com/videos/politics/2018/08/12/sotu-giuliani-september.cnn\)). Now, Scott Dworkin, a Democratic strategist and MSNBC contributor, has gone one better and predicted that Trump will resign in two weeks due to the plea bargain struck by former Trump campaign chair Paul Manafort and Mueller. Most people would hedge at least to say “by the end of the year” or “before his term is up.” A fortnight prediction now puts Dworkin on the verge of being declared a political Nostradamus or nincompoop.

In anticipation of the cooperative deal, Dworkin went to Twitter \(https://twitter.com/funder/status/1040390612317597698\) to announce the new:

(<https://twitter.com/funder>)

Scott Dworkin

✓@funder

If Manafort flips, I bet @realDonaldTrump (<https://twitter.com/realDonaldTrump>) will resign within 2 weeks of a deal.

8:03 PM – Sep 13, 2018 (<https://twitter.com/funder/status/1040390612317597698>)

- 13.4K (https://twitter.com/intent/like?tweet_id=1040390612317597698)
- 5,904 people are talking about this (<https://twitter.com/funder/status/1040390612317597698>)

Of course, we still do not know if Manafort has anything of real value against Trump. He was not known as a close confidant and only served as chair for a couple of months.

Moreover, if Manafort had the goods on Trump, why would he resign? Being president would likely deter Mueller from indicting Trump during his term. Resigning would allow for an immediate charge. The only risk avoided would be impeachment, but it is incarceration that presents the greatest personal risk. Finally, Trump could well lose an impeachment but win a Senate trial if the GOP keeps a majority or even a near majority.

In other words, Pence might want to hold back from actually packing up boxes and picking out curtain colors.

Bush II even with a war support still was in the position of 'we'll do better than this time you can trust us but by then we had figured out he was a RINO aka the right wing of the left . That was twice the GOP had hoodwinked the general public That's when our numbers really started to grow and we began discussions on invoking the military's oath of allegiance. Obama using a system – cycle of repression – modified See Carlois Marighella of Brazil and Tupamaro Movement in Uruguay in the sixties and a simple phrase ... never let a good crisis go to waste led to exactly what I stated and you did not refute. borrow spend, inflate, devalue and repudiate the debt) your punky magic overnight 10% to 5% had nothing to do with Obama except they may have quit using Clinton Methodology in figuring unemployment but was more to do with getting rid of the left.

So whine all you want Doubling down and repeating the cycle of repression again was Hillary's plan and that's why we went into full counter revolution mode. We took 40% your bunch a bit more than 30% and the GOP a bit less than 30%. which ended up in real terms as 55% Constitutional Republic hiring Trump and 45% to oust the left.

We ain't done yet. I hope you sucks do ignore us again. and hey we did it on zero cost budget and no charge advice from the US Miitary's foremost experts on revolutions and counter revolutions. They were not too happy with Obamas demanding they get ready for live fire exercises with the citizens as targets

Better we you you as targets of opportunity as we did in 2016.

So much for your leftist garbage.

I hope Trump resigns. I think Pence would be a good leader of the pack. Then he could get two more terms. Twelve years for Pence. None for Hillary, Bernie, or other Dem slime dogs. The true story of Trump having sex with a male dog will come out by Manafart testimony.

Liberty2nd – there is a very funny Tweet out today from Obama in 2016 saying that there was no way Trump was going to bring jobs back. Now Obama is trying to take responsibility for Trump's economy. Pence does not have that charisma. I am sure that after 8 years of Trump, there will be 8 years of Pence, but charisma wise it is the difference between FDR and Harry Truman.

Paul, this current expansion began in June of 2009. By the time Trump entered the White House, the expansion was already 6.5 years old. Only Fox viewers could think the expansion began with Trump.

And I would advise you to wait until after the midterm election before predicting a second term for Trump. If Democrats take the house, that means subpoena time for Trump! How he survives is anybody's guess.

In 1998, the Lewinsky revelations first emerged in January. Clinton's popularity tanked shortly thereafter. But by August of '98, when Clinton admitted he lied, the public no longer cared. Democrats then made surprising gains in the midterm election.

Newt Gingrich later explained how Republicans didn't foresee that 24 hour news coverage (of the Lewinsky affair) would eventually bore the public. In other words, the public reached what is known as an, "Oh shut up", moment. That moment came about largely because there were no more revelations to hold public interest.

But I don't see any of those dynamics working in Trump's favor. Sure, Republicans reached their "Oh shut up" moment long ago with the Russia Probe. Democrats and Independents, however, can't get enough. What's more, the Manafort and Cohen pleas are sure to provide many revelations to come. Those revelations will hold public interest long after the midterms.

Peter Hill,

..- In the 1998 midterm elections, there was no change in the 55-45 GOP Senate majority.

The GOP lost 4 or 5 seats in the House, maintaining a 223-211 majority.

Overall, the 1998 election was a wash.

There were no "surprising gains in the midterm election" by the Democrats.

Tom, it was surprising in the sense that Democrats picked up seats in the House. The Lewinsky scandal could have been a disaster for the Democrats. But the Democrats actually did better in '98 than they did in '14, Obama's second midterm.

Here's how Wikipedia describes the '98 midterms:

"The 1998 United States Senate elections were a even contest between the Republican and Democratic parties. While the Democrats had to defend more seats up for election, Republican attacks on the morality of President Bill Clinton failed to connect with voters and anticipated Republican gains did not materialize.

The Republicans picked up open seats in Ohio and Kentucky and narrowly defeated Democratic incumbent Carol Moseley Braun (Illinois), but these were cancelled out by the Democrats' gain of an open seat in Indiana and defeats of Republican Senators Al D'Amato (New York) and Lauch Faircloth (North Carolina). The balance of the Senate remained unchanged at 55-45 in favor of the Republicans. With Democrats gaining five seats in the House of Representatives, this marked the first time since 1934 that the out-of-presidency party failed to gain congressional seats in a mid-term election, and the first time since 1822 that the party not in control of the White House failed to gain seats in the mid-term election of a President's second term. These are the last senate elections that resulted in no net change in the balance of power".

The significant sentence here is:

"This marked the first time since 1934 that the out-of-presidency party failed to gain congressional seats in a mid-term election".

So I stand by my description of '98 as a surprise.

When Bush said Read My Lips then caved the real moderates and Constitutionalist dropped their support and began organizing a non party party and got rid of him. Clinton's big deal was heavily supported by passing debt figures over to the next guy among them inflating the TBill dividends and passing their eventual pay off to the next guy. His balanced budget used the White House Budget and not the CBO Budget and never came close to the OMB Budget.. Bush II conned enough votes to get in but was a RINO through and through. After that and the Obama disaster featuring destroying a huge number of small banks and running the cycle of economic repression – borrow, spend, inflate, devalue and repudiate the debt your hero ended up with 1.6% increase in GDP, a loss in NDP, COLA that sent down to zero point two percent and a 30 perencent loss in value of the dollar with a corresponding increase in price of food.

speakinig to Hill and the war mongers (another FDR trait) in support of Paul.

I've seen charts of the # of jobs created for each month, since before the big recession. Once we climbed out of the hole, the figure has been pretty consistent from month to month, over the last several years. Certainly nothing dramatic has happened since Trump was elected.

Obama's non expansion was caused by simple basic economics. excessive borrowing, (which lowers basic money supply) inflation with lessens the value of the money called deflation, and repudiation of the debt meaning the elderly and the retirees retirement income dropped 30%. Add to that the point zero two COLA and it comes up stagflation. Try going to school.

Next I'm going to rash NBC anointing Trump as God.

Really ought to try getting an education one of these days or maybe you did and just paid for social promotion. But subjectivism???? Objectivism will win every time while your other world mystic fantasy fairy tails aren't good enough to make a Hollywood screen play rejected list.

Michael, Unemployment reached a recession high of almost 10% in October of 2009. By the time Trump took office it was close to 5%.

And you call that a 'non-expansion'..?????

What's more, your claims about excessive borrowing don't make any sense. Show me an article from Fortune, Forbes or WSJ supporting your claim there. I'd be very interested in seeing what you're really talking about.

Did you say, “Crazy Abe” Lincoln?”

Abraham Lincoln was a communist.

To wit,

“Unless, of course, we bother to examine the tattered copies of the American outlet for Marx’s revolutionary preachments during the period when Lincoln was preparing to leave the political wilderness and make his march to the presidency. That journal, the New York Tribune, was the most consistently influential of nineteenth-century American newspapers. Indeed, this was the newspaper that engineered the unexpected and in many ways counterintuitive delivery of the Republican nomination for president, in that most critical year of 1860, to an Illinoisan who just two years earlier had lost the competition for a home-state U.S. Senate seat...

Lincoln’s involvement was not just with Greeley but with his sub-editors and writers, so much so that the first Republican president appointed one of Greeley’s most radical lieutenants—the Fourier- and Proudhon-inspired socialist and longtime editor of Marx’s European correspondence, Charles Dana—as his assistant secretary of war.

Long before 1848, German radicals had begun to arrive in Illinois, where they quickly entered into the legal and political circles in which Lincoln traveled. One of them, Gustav Korner, was a student revolutionary at the University of Munich who had been imprisoned by German authorities...

...

Within a decade, Korner would pass the Illinois bar, win election to the legislature and be appointed to the state Supreme Court. Korner and Lincoln formed an alliance that would become so close that the student revolutionary from Frankfurt would eventually be one of seven personal delegates-at-large named by Lincoln to serve at the critical Republican State Convention in May 1860, which propelled the Springfield lawyer into that year’s presidential race. Through Korner, Lincoln met and befriended many of the German radicals who, after the failure of the 1848 revolution, fled to Illinois and neighboring Wisconsin. Along with Korner on Lincoln’s list of personal delegates-at-large to the 1860 convention was Friedrich Karl Franz Hecker, a lawyer from Mannheim who had served as a liberal legislator in the lower chamber of the Baden State Assembly before leading an April 1848 uprising in the region—an uprising cheered on by the newspaper Marx briefly edited during that turbulent period, Neue Rheinische Zeitung—Organ der Demokratie.

The failure of the 1848 revolts, and the brutal crackdowns that followed, led many leading European radicals to take refuge in the United States, and Lincoln’s circle of supporters would eventually include some of Karl Marx’s closest associates and intellectual sparring partners, including Joseph Weydemeyer and August Willich.”

Yes, “Crazy Abe” not only read Karl Marx’s Communist Manifesto, “Crazy Abe” lived Karl Marx’s Communist Manifesto.

Let’s start with a quick timeline of Lincoln and Marx. Americans are so ignorant of history that they often do not realize that Marx and Lincoln were contemporaries.

- Lincoln born: February 12, 1809
- Marx born: May 5, 1818
- Marx publishes a book about Emancipation: 1843
- Marx expelled from France as a radical: 1845
- Lincoln elected to US House: 1846
- Marx publishes the Communist Manifesto: February 1848
- Marx is a contributor to the New York Tribune (Lincoln's favorite newspaper), 1851-1861
- Lincoln runs for U.S. Senate vs. Douglas, famous Lincoln-Douglas debates occur: 1858
- Lincoln becomes US President: 1860
- Civil War Starts: 1861
- Emancipation Proclamation: January 1, 1863
